Game available in two forms such as our own original game like Business Tour and business in our new gameplay, club and merchandise in three games. The game consists of three main characters who operate in the same environment. Customers of the game can play and enjoy the player's game world. The development of the board game is not confined to one dimension. It depends on the cultural spirit of time. For example, ancient history is less popular, while modern architecture is at the top of the list of attention. What is important is that the development of the board game keeps pace with time. The modern time is for modern development of the board game. It is possible that the board game is not updated according to the current time. This will make it obsolete. As the consumer base of the board game grows, the business opportunities are even larger. The board game has become a strategic tool that can be used to develop commercial scale. Today, the board game can be used in real-life scenarios. This is the meaning of the board game that can be used in the real-life. Computer Games can be characterized as one of the most common uses of technology in the field of entertainment. With computer games and computer technology triggering each other, an incredible momentum has emerged in both areas. As computer technology developed, better games were produced, and computer technology was developed to meet the needs of these games. Although computer games turn computers into something else, they are essentially computer software such as office applications, industrial applications, database applications. Today, computer games have become an industry like cinema. Game budgets began to be expressed in millions of dollars. Photorealism is getting closer with every step, and online games played by more than one person at the same time have become widespread. Today, the most important development in electronic games is online games. 5ec8ef588b
